Sejong Cultural Food Street

Picture of the Sejong Cultural Food Street Entrance

A five-minute walk from Gwanghwa-mun, Sejong Cultural Food Street is full of mouth-watering food of all kinds. CSIAMUN staff will guide participants through the street and dining options from Korean traditional meals to the more familiar franchises.

Gwanghwamun Square

Statue of Admiral Yi Sun-sin

Gwanghwamun Square, a Seoul landmark, is known for its view of the magnificent Gwanghwa-mun and the two statues of Korea's greatest heroes – Admiral Yi Sun-sin and King Sejong.

Bukchon Hanok Village

Scenery of Bukchon Hanok Village

Bukchon Hanok Village is home to many Hanoks, the traditional Korean house. Located at the center of the busy Jongno-gu, it is a well-known tourist attraction. CSIAMUN staff will assist in exploring this mecca of Korean traditions.

Korean cuisine dinner: Bukchon Yeonnip-Bap

Bukchon Yeonnip-Bap Meal

A staple for locals, Yeonnip-Bap is glutinous rice, dates, and chestnuts wrapped in lotus leaf and then steamed. This dish was originally eaten mostly by monks, but it is now a popular food for all of Korea.

Insa-Dong Culture Street

Insa-Dong Culture Street

Insa-Dong Culture Street, another renowned tourist spot, is full of souvenir shops, as well as recreational spots. The main street where no cars are allowed is great even just to walk through.

Info

COEX

COEX convention centre is the largest exhibition and convention centre in South Korea. The centre hosts many international and domestic events year-round. The centre is located in Gangnam-gu, one of Seoul's busiest districts. The district was introduced to the world by PSY in his sensational hit Gangnam Style.

Participants will be able to experience the culture of the city of Seoul, South Korea's capital through their experience at COEX. StarField Mall, one of the biggest comprehensive culture and shopping plazas in Korea, is connected to the establishment. Participants will be spending most of their time at StarField Mall.

Activities

COEX Aquarium

COEX aquarium is the biggest aquarium in South Korea, housing more than 600 different species of aquatic life and more than 40,000 fish. The aquarium is also famous for its shark population – consisting of 110 sharks of 17 species in total. There will be an entrance fee of $20, which will not be provided by CSIAMUN.

STARFIELD LIBRARY

Starfield Library is a public library with thousands of magazines, books of various interests. It was designed for cultural and emotional connections among visitors with a common subject in mind: Books.

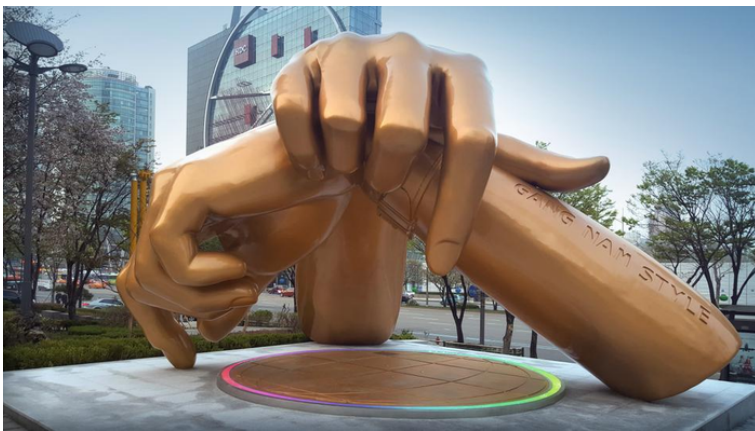

Bongeunsa Temple

Bongeunsa Temple is a Buddhist temple that dates back to A.D. 794 located just north of the Coex Starfield Mall. The main Korean Buddhist Zen temple from 1551 to 1936, the highlight of the temple is a 91 foot stone statue of Maitreya (the Future Buddha) which is one of the tallest stone statues in the country.

This temple makes an interesting mix of modern and traditional Seoul. Taking a slow walk around the compound and exploring the different temple building architecture and statues of Buddha is a great way to release any tension or stress.

Statue of Gangnam Style

The giant statue portraying the “Gangnam Style” dance from Psy’s iconic hit is installed in front of the east gate of COEX in Gangnam district. Marks the triumph of Korean pop music and serves as a cool photo opportunity.
